He was liberated by the seventh Army on May 3 on a farm in Poland. He found his life as a prisoner a little better than many because he was on the farm but he saw hardships too and was in the 87 day march when they marched 1300 miles with only a few hours rest.

Before he was taken he had a most responsible part in the combat for it was his job to see to the safety of the men while in action. He carried a walkie talkie.

Lucas has the Distinguished Unit Citation with two clusters; the Bronze Arrowhead; the Purple Heart and the Purple Heart with clusters; Infantry Combat Badge, three battle Stars; Eameto Medal; Good Conduct Medal and the British Award for action with British ninth command.

A JOB FOR THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

FROM all indications the people of the Mississippi Gulf Coast have a job cut out for them, in trying to keep in our midst, the many people from New Orleans, who make the coast their second home. Much agitation is being raised by the press of New Orleans for a causeway over Lake Pontchartrain to connect the City of New Orleans with the other side of the Lake. Their contention is that Louisiana should develop their own resorts. We cannot take issue with them on this subject. Of course they have helped the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and we believe that the people of this section are deeply appreciative of the aid that has come from that great old Southern Metropolis. On the other hand we feel that the issue in the building of the causeway should not be made a direct one, of not helping Mississippi to build, but to help Louisiana. New Orleans should realize that much business comes to them from the Mississippi Gulf Coast and from the State of Mississippi as a whole. We do not believe that selfish attitudes should enter into the picture. We are certain that with all of the people in the City of New Orleans, who are anxious to get out into the wide open spaces, that there will be enough who will finally settle along the shores of Lake Pontchartrain to develop that section.

The people of the Mississippi Gulf Coast appreciate the City of New Orleans. It is a splendid trading center for them. It affords them many pleasures that they are unable to get in their own communities. It gives to them every opportunity of the City Life.

We on the Gulf Coast appreciate the people of New Orleans, who live among us. We want them to continue to live with us. We should try to make it so attractive for these people that they will not want to leave us.

This is a job for our Chamber of Commerce to work on. They can do much in this direction.

POSSIBILITIES OF STATE RECOGNIZED

THAT the possibilities of the State of Mississippi and particularly of this section of the State are recognized throughout the Country is attested by the following letter which we have received from Mr. G. R. Watson of Kansas City, Missouri.

3305 Benton Blvd., Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 6, 1945.

The Sea Coast Echo:

I was much pleased to receive a copy of your fine paper.

I am truly glad to hear that you have a wide awake Chamber of Commerce.

I think it is a shame that so much has gone to waste for so long in Southern Mississippi. A few years ago I had the pleasure of visiting your beautiful city. As I have thought of the possibilities of your wonderful State it is hard for me to see why greater developments have not taken place there.

An important fruit dealer told me you have the advantage over California so much in producing fruit. What is it you can't produce? If Southern Mississippi got half the fair advertising that some other states have had, I think the population of that state would double in a short time.

In fairness to the State and to the rest of the country why not get busy and put your great State of Opportunity on the map? Yours for a greater Mississippi,

G. R. WATSON

P. S.—Enclosed find check for $2.00 for which send me your good paper for the coming year.

We deeply appreciate this letter, and we hope that our people will not be long in recognizing the great possibilities that lie before them.

ANOTHER MAN WITH AN IDEA

THE imagination of the progressive retailer knows no bounds! A fruit and vegetable concern in Pennsylvania is pushing sales of "air fresh" produce. Under an arrangement with the eastern retailer, the produce is grown by a Salinas, California, shipper, then transported by air twice a week to a nearby airport where it is reloaded and whisked air express to the east. Seventeen hours after it is picked in California, the air cargo is on the market. Newspaper advertisements are run the night before each sale. Window streamers, posters, reproduction of current advertisements and wall signs are used to spur consumer demand for air borne produce.

Strawberries, plums, seedless grapes, honey-dew melons, cantaloupes, lettuce and tomatoes have been tested to date with satisfactory results.

The enterprising courage of this retailer is as refreshing as his airborne fruit. Here is further proof that the age of new ideas, of pioneering toward new horizons, is not a thing of the past. As long as individual opportunity for profit exists, new ideas will continue to appear. And generally the consuming public is the greatest benefactor of every workable idea. The conveniences and luxuries which go to make up the thing we call our standard of living are nothing but an accumulation of ideas created by people who saw an opportunity to earn a dollar. Continued encouragement of these people with ideas is nothing more than common sense.—Industrial News Review.

The best way to get your work done is to keep your mind on your work.

Farmers it is said are enjoying the largest income in the history of the nation; this is a good thing for the nation.

In case you have any doubts it might be a good idea to begin thinking about the blessings that have been yours during the past year.

There are very few Americans who stayed home from the wars, who have not accumulated some savings. They stand a good chance to lose what they saved unless they join in the battle against inflation.

ture producers have not always been so successful.

It, therefore, should be more than welcome news to the movie fans to report advance notices on Columbia Pictures' Technicolor fantasy of old Bagdad, "A Thousand And One Nights" which will bring Cornel Wilde, Evelyn Keyes, Phil Silvers and Adele Jergens to the A. & G. Theatre on Sunday and Monday, indicate that this new entry is not only magically brilliant in its fantasy, but comically successful in its satire.

Reports also say that Cornel Wilde will become a matinee idol; Evelyn Keyes a top comedienne; that Phil Silvers has come into his comic own; and that Adele Jergens is headed for Hollywood's Hall of Flame with the most glamorous sirens of the past.

Telling the story of Aladdin and his wonderful lamp, "A Thousand And One Nights" is said to have not only a sweep of magnificent pageantry and romance seldom found adroitly blended. Credit for this is given to the astute direction of Alfred E. Green, the director, the crafty playing of the entire cast and the skillful writing of the screenplay by Wilfrid H. Pettitt, Richard English and Jack Henley.

When they come back...

United Gas employees, serving in our armed forces, have been notified that we have jobs for them, when they return. . . In reply to a questionnaire sent them, hundreds of answers already received indicate a deep appreciation of the Companies' interest, and practically all of them want to come back to us.

We asked if they thought their military experience had fitted them for special work in our organization. Many indicated a preference. We will do everything possible to give them the work they desire. . . . To all of those who have served or are serving in our armed forces, we all owe an everlasting debt of gratitude.

ORTIE THEATRE SUNDAY-MONDAY "HER HIGHNESS AND THE BELLBOY"

Hedy Lamarr, Robert Walker,
June Allyson with Rags
Ragland and Agnes Moorehead

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has teamed a top-flight trio of stars in Hedy Lamarr, Robert Walker and June Allyson and cast them in an appealing story titled "Her Highness and the Bellboy" to produce a picture which is bound to be one of the most popular hits of the year.

Miss Lamarr is exquisite as the princess of the title who comes to the United States to try to find romance again with an American columnist she once was forced to reject. Walker is the bellboy who accidentally meets her, becomes infatuated and soon fancies himself as a king-to-be. Miss Allyson, following her recent successes in "Music for Millions" and "Two Girls and a Sailor," is Eob's bed-ridden sweetheart who becomes the innocent victim of her boy friend's highfalutin' romance.

Joe Pasternak, who produced "Music for Millions" and "Two Girls and a Sailor" and has teamed with Director Richard Thorpe on "Thrill of a Romance," again has spared nothing to make a movie that is fascinating and heart-warming entertainment.

In addition to the stars, Rags Ragland never has been funnier than as Walker's not-too-bright pal; Agnes Moorehead is just right as the Countess and Carl Esmond as the princess' noble suitor. Warner Anderson, who has appeared in "Weekend in the Waldorf" is fine as the columnist who loves Princess Veronica. You'll probably be seeing much more of this excellent young actor.
